

FISH & GAME OFFICER - ECOLOGIST

Do you love our waterways and wetlands?

Are you a keen advocate for healthy habitats and the well-being of the wider environment and our place in it?

Do you want to develop your knowledge by researching and monitoring sports fish and game bird populations?

Do you enjoy educating and liaising with like-minded people?

Do you have a drive to ensure the sustainable and legal harvesting of sports fish and game bird resources.

Are you looking for an enviable balance of field and office-based work to fit your lifestyle?

We would like to invite you to apply for this exciting opportunity.

The Central South Island Fish and Game Council is on the search for an enthusiastic Fish & Game Officer to join our small Temuka-based team as an ecologist.

We are looking for the following attributes:

1. A passion for outdoor recreation, wildlife, and the environment.

2. Able to work cooperatively in a small, highly motivated, and successful team.
3. Effective oral and written communication skills.
4. Experience with species monitoring, research, and management.
5. Experience in statistical analysis and modelling would be an advantage.
6. A reasonable working knowledge of fish and game bird management principles.
7. Able to work independently in the outdoor environment.

8. A tertiary qualification in one of the biological sciences, or relevant work experience.

The successful applicant's primary role will be to lead research and monitoring programmes for sports fish, game birds, and habitat along with advocating for fish and game values through various resource management matters including compliance, policy, media, public access and consenting.

A full job description is available upon request or by visiting the careers page on our website www.fishandgame.org.nz

Applicants for this position must have current New Zealand Residency or a Valid NZ Work Visa.

Applications close 5pm, Wednesday 29 April 2024
